

Champions of Character

In order for participants in the ORC's Youth Basketball League to receive maximum benefits, a high standard of ethics and sportsmanship must be demonstrated and maintained by everyone involved. Ethics and sportsmanship should not only be demonstrated by the players but also by the fans, parents, officials, coaches and the ORC staff.

“By participating in or attending an ORC youth Basketball game, practice or other event I pledge to display sportsmanship and encouragement to all participants playing in the ORC's youth basketball program and will abide by the Champions of Character code of ethics.”

- I will treat all participants of the ORC's youth basketball program (including officials, coaches and staff) with respect and dignity.
- I will NEVER verbally abuse any player, fan, coach or official regardless of the situation.
- I will encourage good sportsmanship by demonstrating respect and support for all players, fans and officials.
- I will encourage my child to show respect to other players, fans, coaches and officials.
- I will applaud all participants - win or lose.
- I will agree that violating this code of ethics can result in ejection from a game by officials, staff or coaches and can also result in suspension from future games.

BE A CHAMPION OF CHARACTER!
